

Does Jordan have a potential for generating energy?

Jordan's untapped potential for generating energy through solar, wind, and biomass resources is open to private sector investment and international developers to take advantage of available reliable data to support their financial and investment decision. Figure 5.

How much energy does Jordan need?

Jordan's demand for energy is growing at a rate of 3% annually. In response, the government set a target of obtaining 10% of its energy needs from renewable energy resources by increasing electricity generation share from the present 1.13 GW-1.8 GW by 2020.

Why does Jordan need a natural gas supply?

Egypt was the leading supplier of natural gas with its competitive prices. Unfortunately, this supply has been disrupted, which caused severe energy security threats in Jordan. As a result, Jordan started seeking secure alternatives to energies due to the unstable political situation in the region.

What are the main sources of energy in Jordan?

Imported oil and natural gas comprise the largest share at 87% of the total energy need (9,712 ktoe), while domestic resources account for 7.8% of energy supply, including the 7% obtained from renewable energy [6]. Figure 1. Structure of primary energy sources in Jordan in 2018 (9,712 ktoe) [6].

What is the most secure energy project in Jordan?

The generation of electricity from the direct burning of oil shale is considered the most secure energy project in Jordan, due to its substantial local availability as an energy resource in many regions of the country, with an estimated reserve of 70 billion tons [22].

How much electricity is generated in Jordan?

This project includes constructing an electricity generation station in the Atarat Um Al-Ghodran region in the center of Jordan, with a generating capacity of (470) MW, roughly (9%) of the total electricity generated in Jordan in 2018.
